ENTERTAINMENTS.

The Polish Saint Stanislaus Benevolent Society held its fifth annual entertainment at Teutonia Hall on Sunday evening, September 10. The genial president, P. Szukalski, and Miss W. Piasecki led the grand march, followed by over 150 couples. The hall was beautifully decorated with festoons, flags and banners and the national colors of America and Poland.

There were seventeen dances on the programme, which kept the orchestra busy until a late hour. At 12 o'clock the president invited the guests to the festal board, where a bounteous supper was served. The enjoyment of native wines was interspersed by songs, recitations and pleasant anecdotes.

The officers and committees were as follows: Officers—P. Szukalski president, John Apel vice-president, L. Kowalkowski secretary, J. Albrefczenski treasurer; committee of arrangements—T. Piasecki, John Apel, J. Prezyborowski, L. Kowalkowski; reception committee—P. Szukalski, F. Zakrzewski, J. Kuns, E. Albrefczenki; floor committee—T Bartnikowski, J. P. Albrefczenski.

SON SAYS FATHER HAS GONE CRAZY

Kawalkowski's Desire to Marry Worries His Children.

Insanity Commissioners Conclude That He Is Mentally Sound.

Frank Kawalkowski wants to get married, and because the yearnings for a mate overpowered him his son had him arrested for insanity. He was up before the Insanity Commission yesterday and was discharged. Drs. McGettigan and Rethers decided that a man with a name like that was justified in trying to share it with another.

Kawalkowski is the father of seventeen children, only eleven of whom have survived to uphold the honor of the family name. He is a Pole by birth and his first and only wife died seven months ago. There was no happiness for Kawalkowski without a cheering face to greet him at the fireside, so he concluded to replace his lost spouse with another. During the hours of labor at a bench in the King Planing Mills he evolved a scheme to replace the partner of his joys and sorrows and accordingly he advertised for helpmeet.

There were numerous answers to the advertisement, but when the coy maidens were confronted with the fact that the aspiring bridegroom had already fathered seventeen children and that eleven of them still remained on the terrestrial globe they said, "Nay! Nay!"

As a last resort Kawalkowski wrote a letter in Russian advertising for a wife, which he caused to be published in the Odessa Daily Something-or-Other. His eldest son, Peter, is a reader of the paper and when he found that his father was bent on matrimony he concluded that the best thing for him was solitary confinement. Accordingly he swore out a warrant and had the multitudinous papa arrested for insanity.

Kawalkowski's release on this charge leaves an excellent opening for women who desire to enter the matrimonial state.

HYSTERICAL WOMAN BREAKS UP A SESSION OF COURT

The entire Kawalkowski family, consisting of Frank Kawalkowski and his nine children, took part in a lively scene in Judge Troutt's court yesterday during the hearing of the suit of Martha Kawalkowski, the defendant's eldest daughter, to compel him to support her little brothers and sisters. As Miss Kawalkowski, after leaving the witness stand was passing her father, he made some remark, which caused her to suddenly stop. She looked at him for fully half a minute and then screamed and fell in a faint. The rest of the family rushed to her assistance and added to the noise by talking and shouting.

Kawalkowski is supposed to have a matrimonial mania and this is the cause of the trouble. He has been examined as to his sanity, but has never been committed. His children say he does not support them because he spends his time and money in the pursuit of some woman to take the place of their mother, who died in June, 1902.

When the noise had subsided Judge Troutt put the case over a week, suggesting that in the meantime Kawalkowski make some provision for his children.

1904: Frank married his 2nd wife, Helen Dittner/Dettner, from Blossburg, Pennsylvania; she died in 1908

FILE A STIPULATION TO SETTLE THEIR FAMILY JARS

Franciszk Kawalkowski and His Children Agree to Adjust Differences as to Property.

A stipulation "to settle family jars," signed by Franciszk Kawalkowski and counsel representing his brood of children, young and old, was filed in the office of the County Clerk yesterday. Under the terms of the stipulation Kawalkowski is permitted to borrow $1500 on his homestead at 301 Richland avenue, pay off a mortgage and lease his home to his ten children by his first wife.

Sometime after the death of his first wife, Kawalkowski remarried in Pennsylvania and brought his bride West to reign in his household as the stepmother of his children. In the course of time the second Mrs. Kawalkowski added three more children to the home circle, and then trouble began to brew. After much wrangling Kawalkowski set up two households, but as this was very expensive, lawsuits resulted, the oldest daughter of the many finally instituting an action to enjoin her father from making way with his property.

Yesterday's stipulation settles all of this trouble and the ten children of the first wife are to have the family homestead at a monthly rental of $25, which is to be paid by the eldest daughter in clothing for the younger children.

1960: Death of Leo John Kawalkowski

LEO JOHN KAWALKOWSKI

SAN BRUNO—Leo John Kawalkowski, 77, a pioneer Californian and photo engraving company owner, died yesterday at his home, 219 Santa Helena avenue, after a short illness.

Kawalkowski, a native of Peoria, Ill., came to California with his parents at the age of one. He lived in San Bruno 30 years, and operated his own photo engraving company in San Francisco for 60 years. He was a member of the St. Stanislaus Society and the Photo Engravers' union.

Survivors include his wife, Zofea; a daughter, Mrs. Wanda Roefer of La Grange, Ill.; two sons, Dr. Stanley Kawalski of Woodside, and John Kawalski of Burlingame; a brother, Frank Kawalkowski, of San Francisco, and four sisters, Mrs. Stephana Clark, Mrs. Agnes Valentina and Mrs. Teresa Basco, all of San Francisco, and Mrs. Valera Albright of Oroville.

A requiem high mass will be celebrated Friday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Dunstan's Catholic church, Millbrae. The rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Chapel of the Highlands, Millbrae. Interment will be in Holy Cross cemetery, Colma.

The surname Kawalkowski became Kawalski for some family members and Kowalkowski for others.
